

Letter 66
Time For A Break
2012-01-12

Dear Dan,

Well. These letters have been quit an excursion, at least for me. I have learned, am learning, and will learn some more, about what and how the Lord did, does and will do - things. I think there a few more items for me to write about in this series of letters. But I think I'll take a break for the moment.

Since I started writing these letters I have had a few more experiences that I ought to touch on, some from listening to a couple of audio books. But there was a reoccurrence of a spiritual event.

I think it was about September 2011 or maybe a month or two earlier that I experienced another "angry evil spirit" event like I had in Letter 56.

It felt the same, but this time I was at a restaurant, seated, with (M) and her parents. I felt the spirit come right up in my face. I did what I did before; resist, and it went away.

When this happened the first time I asked Gabe why it occurred and he said it was because I was the "ranking spiritual authority (of Christ)" on the premises at the time. I suppose the same might be true about the second occurrence. Gabe said it was Satan both times.

Dan, I am really tired of this stuff. But I know that whatever happens is somehow part of Jesus' plan of redemption for me and those I touch. That's always a good thing.

I am going to see a specialist doctor in a few days, the morning of Friday the 13th, to discuss my disability. I seem to be losing energy to keep forcing myself to work each day. I would like to get a full Social Security disability, but that would really harm my household's budget if I left my current level of income.

The longer I can keep the job, or level of income I currently have, the better. Or so it seems.

(M), my wife is more disabled than I am, and at times I need to be a partial care-giver for her at home. So I do "work" at work and "work" at home. That's why I am really wearing out.

If you are currently in fellowship anywhere, could you please request prayer for my wife, my household, and me? I would owe you a debt of gratitude.

As soon as I have time I will review all the letters for accuracy and make sure the Decryption Key is complete. Enclosed however is a (very rough) draft of the key so you can have some idea sooner than later of some of the people I have talked about.

The thought occurred to me a while ago to produce audio versions of these letters. I think this is from the Lord, and I have been getting a lot of input from the OTH* crew.

Just a few days ago I saw in the spirit another new thing at (G6), in (G6d). I was standing in one of the corridors and saw a sword being thrown down the hall towards a set of exit doors to the elevators. This reminded me immediately of the scene from Gladiator where Maximus is taken to the forest to be executed. The soldier that is going to strike him has trouble drawing his sword because of the morning frost. In that moment Maximus takes advantage of the delay and overpowers his adversary and kills him. Then, he takes that sword and throws it at the other centurion, killing him also.

That is what I saw being thrown past me down the hall, in a very similar fashion. And I saw this happen more than once.

To quote a line from a song by Petra;

"THE BATTLE BELONGS TO THE LORD".

Blessings...

Romanus Theophilus
