

Letter 144
The Undiscovered Country
2012-10-05

Dear Dan,

All throughout the Day of 7 the Lord would explain, either in person or through Gabe, what was going on and why. That is why even though many weird things happened all the time; they didn't stay weird for long. And the Holy Spirit was activating His Gift of Knowledge in me so that even during the weirdness, there was always a Rock of Truth that could not be shaken or moved, and upon which I could fix my understanding, or from which I could gain a reference point. In "Trekkian" terms it would be similar to Stellar Cartography

One day during this time (M) and I had occasion to celebrate her dad's birthday at the home of his closest friend (P11) in (L18). On the way driving to the house I saw two Angels on the hood of my truck, pointing what appeared to be a .50 caliber machine gun through the windshield toward my wife. This was so that Leviathan could not prophesy through her since she had not been delivered yet.

I was pretty nervous at the thought of being in the same room with my in-laws, because the Lord had just started revealing to me just what sort of "Hideous Strength" it was that resided with them, but the Lord re-assured me that things would be OK. I think this occurred just before I forbade my in-laws to have any contact with my household.

During the party I could sense the same sort of tension that existed when I was at (CS2)'s house and the demons began to manifest in (CB9). At one point I commented to my mother-in-law that I couldn't send emails because I was having trouble with the dial-up modem. Her response was rather negative and reproachful.

What was really happening was that there was a demon just outside the window of my study at home cursing the modem so I could not go online. The modem had just stopped working, so I had to buy a new one. This is how strong at the time the enemy's power was at my house. (No wonder God sent the message "Satan is my fucking co-pilot" the way He did. But there were other reasons for that message as well).

After we were done eating we retired to (P11)'s very well appointed home theater room where we had the option of picking from a rather large selection of movies to watch.

We finally agreed on a Star Trek movie called:

"The Undiscovered Country".

It was while we were watching this movie that several things happened. First, after a few minutes, I would see my father-in-law turn his head slightly and look at me out of the corner of his eye. This happened more than once. Second, I knew that it was the demon he had on board that was motivating him to do so, so that the evil spirit could see what kind of psychological state I was in. Third, the Lord said to me that He was delivering my father-in-law from the demonic spirit during the course of the movie.

So as usual, I sat, watched, and learned. And I believed God at His Word.

What's interesting is that the phrase "the undiscovered country" is from Shakespeare's "Hamlet". It refers to what lies beyond this life. But it's only "undiscovered" until one knows Christ, Who has been there and back and lives again to tell about it.

So I learned that the Lord delivers (saves) through whatever means He sees fit, including theater.

Blessings...

R. C. Theophilus

P. S. For reasons I learned later, (M) would periodically make a point of saying that all the Star Trek captains had previously been trained in the Shakespearian tradition.
