

Letter 183
“My Son Has Two Shepherds”
“(They Don’t Mind)”
2013-05-01

Dear Dan,

On one of the summer days of 2000 I was walking along the trail behind my house when I met an older man walking a rather large dog. I don’t remember the breed, just that it was pretty big. We exchanged verbal pleasantries and talked about dogs etc. And we talked about some of the trouble in the world at large.

During the discussion of dogs the man said;

“MY SON HAS TWO SHEPHERDS. THEY DON’T MIND.”

And I took him to mean that he had a son that had two German Shepherd dogs that were disobedient, since that was the topic at hand. I also noticed a glint of humor in his eye and a subtle mirth in the way he said it.

We talked some more and the topic changed to things that were happening in the world, and at one point with a note of sadness and a quiver of subtle remorse in his voice he said;

“THE WORLD’S GOING TO HELL”.

I didn’t say much after that, and we parted company. But many days later the same man and I crossed paths again on the trail. This time he had the biggest dog I have ever seen, almost the size of a small pony. We made no verbal exchange, since we were walking in opposite directions and the trail was busy with other passersby, but he smiled at me with a friendly gesture.

All this happened at the same time that angel Gabe was trying to get me to meet others of his kind, so I was learning to expect him to say “that was so and so”. In this case, Gabe informed me that the man I met was the Holy Spirit in human form.

But it took many years of reflection for me to discover what the man meant by his son having two shepherds. He was referring to the two angels assigned to me by the Lord, Gabe and Gabriella. And, he was quite right. They don’t mind me at all. They mind the Lord.

But then later on a further ramification became clear to me. In that statement, the Lord God was calling me His son.

Blessings...
