

Letter 315
Mike In Astoria
2015-02-15

Dear Dan,

According to angel Gabe, I saw Michael the Archangel when we were in Astoria last September. It was on the first day of our trip, and after we stopped at the Peter Iredale.

When we left the shipwreck area we turned left on the road that took us eventually to where we laid my Dad to rest. But as we were driving along what seemed to be a desolate stretch of road, we passed a bicyclist going the same direction.

I really wasn't paying too close attention, but I did notice that the cyclist seemed to be a middle aged man dressed in blue jeans and a jacket.

On the way back from the beach area, we passed him again, so I could see his face. And I was startled to see someone who looked a lot like you. He had dark curly hair and a matching beard and very similar features (remember, he was appearing as I remember you from the last time we saw each other. It is likely that you have got some more gray since then). And I thought, "might that be one of Dan's angels or something?"

Later on angel Gabe said that he was Archangel Michael. And as I was thinking through the details preparing for this note, Gabe further clarified that Angels Jane and Joan Narsil work for Michael. Soldier Angels with swords and their own troops taking care of Kingdom Business. Makes sense.

Blessings...
