

Letter 412
What The Lord Says Is What The Lord Says
 2015-10-31

Dear Dan,

"Don't let uncertainty become your enemy."
 (Jesus - 21 October 2015 2:48 AM)

The Lord changed the agenda at the dinner on 20 October (see Letter 411). Not a lot, but just enough to have a few things happen that otherwise wouldn't have.

The first change was the time. (CB41) thought the start time was 5:30PM, rather than 6:30PM. He kept hearing "5:30", so he and Pastor (CB5) ended up arriving at the restaurant an hour early and spending some quality time together feasting on nachos.

I arrived at 6:30 and said "hello" to both Brothers, and then I began to tell Pastor (CB5) how I had originally wanted to ask him if I could present part of my testimony to the Church body, but how that in the course of writing the invitation, the Lord steered me into creating the fill in form that you saw concerning healing the Church in the Pacific Northwest.

We discussed those issues for a minute, but then our conversation was steered back to my testimony and the many letters I have written. They also asked about you. At that point I divulged your last name, and Pastor (CB5) said that your name was familiar to him. He also knew (CS3), and (CS13), who I never met.

Our conversation was both enjoyable and fruitful.

Before Pastor (CB5) got ready to leave, I asked if he had any parting words of wisdom. In response he said;

"WELL, JUST "KEEP DOIN' WHAT YOU'RE DOIN'".

Dan, the last five words in this sentence were a verbatim quote of Jesus Who, in response to my questioning Him on three or four separate occasions as to the immediate direction of my life, spoke the very same words to me in the Spirit. Jesus was repeating Himself through Pastor (CB5) to me.

Just after I started writing this letter, I went back and looked at the agenda heading for the meeting. And I started to think that what I am doing is exactly what is going to bring healing to the Church in, of, and throughout the Pacific Northwest. This may not be the only reason, but I can surmise that is why, at least in part, angel Gabriel was sent to become an integral part of my life. Or perhaps I should say, an integral part of the life of the Church.

P. S. Regarding the three questions posed in the dinner agenda, here are the three problems the Lord gave to me.

- A. Witchcraft
- B. Abuse
- C. Isolation

The solutions to these problems are being worked out every day and documented as I write down what I become aware of (see Letter 404). Here is a short list of “what I’m doin”.

1. Loving Jesus.
2. Loving my wife, household, family and neighbors.
3. Going to work and living day to day with angels being an integral part thereof.
4. Listening to audio and praying.
5. Doing whatever I can for the benefit of my household.
6. Writing letters at Starbucks.
7. Watching TV with my angel family and Jesus.
8. Other activities that support my testimony on the LTD website.

P. P. S. As I was writing this Letter at Starbucks, I got up to use the restroom before leaving. On my way to the door I passed two men sitting at a table. I observed that they both had Bibles with them, so I said, “Bibles. Does that mean you believe in Jesus?” “Yes”, they responded. “Sign me up”, I said smiling in return as I kept walking past them to the bathroom door.

While emptying out my in-board container of previously consumed coffee, I inquired of the Lord, and He reminded me of a scrap of paper that I had in my pocket, on which I had written something He had shared with me at work after the dinner meeting. He suggested I give the scrap of paper to the two young men on my way out of the coffee shop. So after I was finished in the used coffee room, I stopped at their table and asked if they believed in the “prophetic word”, or something like that. They were a little taken aback, and one said that might be a deep philosophical discussion. But this was all being done in spirits of openness and receptivity, so I laid the scrap of paper towel on the table for them to look at, and said we could discuss it next time, and then walked away and out the door.

The scrap of information was this:

Blessings...
