DREAM
It Sure Is Vague In Here
 2016-01-16

Dear Dan,

Sunday, 10 January 2016, 6AM.

I had a dream a little over two weeks ago that I have been contemplating before the Lord.

In this dream I dreamed that:

I was in the living room of a house. It was a weekday evening, and I got the impression that I was there to see a weekday Home Group Bible Study from a larger Church that met on Sundays. I was at one end of the room observing everyone else, who were not able to see me. There were between eight and ten participants sitting, facing each other in various chairs, a sofa, a love seat, etc.

But as I observed, I saw and heard that all the participants in the meeting were there for one purpose. It was their desire and assignment to plot to invade and overthrow another home group that was actually Praying and Studying the Bible.

What I was seeing was a group of fallen angels all gathered in a “mock meeting”, in a living room in a house that was not of this world, practicing how to attack real Church Home Groups that meet here in real Delta-1 time/space.

The very strange thing about this was that everything that I saw and heard was vague.

It wasn't that my senses weren't sharp. No, I could see and hear clearly. But what they said was muffled, because the people that I was observing only muttered in their conversation, not clearly articulating the sounds of the words coming from their own mouths. Yet I knew perfectly what they were up to. It was indeed the fact that their plans didn't have much point to them. And the interior color of the room and all the furnishings were of a sick, dull, monotone, sort of a pinkish lavender color. There wasn't hardly any contrast at all to the room, the people, or what they were saying.

In fact, there wasn't much point to it at all.

The Gift of Knowledge informed me that the impostors essentially were plotting to interdict the actual anointing sent from Jesus by His Faithful Angels, by attempting to impersonate them with false anointing in a Church Home Group meeting.

END OF DREAM.

Two of the best examples of what I saw would be the difference between North and South Korea, and when they existed as two different nations, East Germany and West Germany.

The one is pointless, full of death. The other is relevant, full of life.

I had this dream in December of 2015, which means it doesn't matter anyway because all of their plans for the future have been stopped; frozen in place until further notice.

Blessings...
