

Letter 805a
DREAM
Interceding For My Niece
2020-05-22

Dear Yeshua,

Friday, 22 May 2020, 9:45AM.

This Letter is an amalgam of an audio recording transcript of a dream I had, along with related thoughts as I was recording the report of the dream. Additionally, I am making a few editorial notes, changes and additions while I am writing.

Thursday, 4 July 2019, 6:30AM (date/time stamp of audio).

I woke up at about 5:30AM, having just had a multi-part dream. The details of the dream are unclear at this point. After I woke up I made an audio recording of the dream, along with thoughts which were occurring to me at that moment. All I remember is that in the dream I was with some people; as I sit here trying to recall, the content is kind of hazy, there's the fog of war involved. But after I woke up and started making the audio recording on which this Letter is based, I checked my email and saw that I had several emails from my niece (the daughter of my youngest sibling brother). She was writing to me about some financial difficulties she was having. And I'm thinking that this dream had to do with that, because she was sending those emails at the same time I was having this dream.

Now that I think about it (right now at 5:30AM, or really close to that), I believe that I was interceding and wrestling with the enemy who was against my Niece. She was having problems with the bank, and bills. And as we know from experience, enemy spirits can exist within relationships, to cause and bring panic in the relationships, and try to get people to make unsound choices, and unsound decisions, which will only serve to make their situation worse.

And I think this is what was happening with my Niece. So, that's what was going on. I woke up sore, and real tired, but not psychologically fatigued. The fatigue was pretty much from my shoulders down, which is why I was neither confused nor "foggy headed". But it was a pretty potent wrestling match. It feels like I haven't woken up yet. Depending on the conflict, I'll either start waking up right away, or if it's a real nasty conflict it will take me many hours to wake up, while I displace the blurriness out of my head with multiple cups of coffee. The "Fog of War" which frequently occurs while I sleep - and wrestle with HR in spirit-space as revealed in my dreams.

Anyway, so that's this dream and follow up notes. I think as I sit here listening to the Lord Holy Spirit, what He's telling me is that in the dream I was wrestling with the HR spirit-people who are assigned against my Niece. ROE-3 says that those people are now gone. It is my hope that my Niece will feel a lot better down the road.

(NOTE: this Letter is being posted in 2020. The events occurred in 2019.)

Blessings...
